2005.05.09 [Monday] evening; Mom and I were going through an album of Heller and Bard photos that she and Dad had assembled largely from photos found among Aunt Ida's things.

There was a copy of the framed photo who I was told was Mom's Heller grandmother [Katie Irena Spangler]. Here, however, it was labelled "Susan Fink Heller".

Lulu M. [Spangler] Hahn married Hahn of Hahn Motors in Hamburg. They lived at 17th and Hamilton in Allentown. One night an intruder entered their home, and she was shot in the shoulder. Aunt Ida and Mom used to visit there. Mr. Hahn was killed in an auto accident on his way to work [somewhere near Vogelsville?]. The authorities called Aunt Lulu and asked if her husband was there. When she said that he had left for work, they told her the news.

Herbert Spangler was a State Senator in Washington.

Mary Spangler married John Miller of the Broom Factory in Hamburg.
-- son: Arthur C. Miller [of the ice cream shop in Reading]
-- daughter: Catherine Miller, who went to school in Colorado
-- son: George Miller
Mary Spangler married second George Stafford, a retired railroad employee. They spent their winters in St. Petersburg, Florida partly because they had rail passes.

Mary Heller and Ida [Heller] Koch lived in a house on S. 10th St. [117 1/2? something with a 1/2, in the first block]. Backyard is shown in photo.

Photo of Ada Bard may have been taken in New Bedford, Mass., where she lived and worked as a governess. When she retired, she lived with her parents in Denver.

Elsie Daniels is "Aunt Elsie", who we used to visit in a nursing home.

K. Heller in snow at her home in Womelsdorf.

Photo of Aunt Ida with a perambulator that is not hers, perhaps that of friends.

1937 page -- also taken at Laureldale house

1938 facing page -- Aunt Ada with daughters Carol [elder] and Janet, along with Sara and EAH

Patricia Reitz was the neighbor's daughter.

1939 page -- unmarked Irvin F. Heller

1945 -- EAH, Carol, Aunt Hilda, and Janet, maybe taken in New York; the rest taken in Womelsdorf

1947 -- Aunt Mildred's oldest son made the cake for the 50th anniversary of R.E. Bard and M.S.Becker; the brick garage might be at the back of Aunt Lulu's house

303 Penn St. apartment is where Mom lived with Aunt Ida

Connie Frymoyer, student; Jeanette Burkhart, teacher who took Mom's place when she left teaching to give birth to Michael.

Large photos inside back cover of album -- taken in New York when Mom and Aunt Ida visited there [presumably after Aunt Ida had moved out and no longer lived there].

The one large photo marked 1961 should probably be 1956 like the other copy.
